2016 STUDENT FEATURE: Edmel Ronquillo, Class of 2017

As a senior at Cleveland High School, Edmel took a less traditional route for her final year of high school. She spent her senior year studying in Brazil through the AFS-USA BP Global Citizens of Tomorrow scholarship. Edmel has been studying both Mandarin and Portuguese, and plans to use her language skills to make healthcare safer and accessible for immigrants. Today, Edmel is studying Public Health at the University of Hawaii - Manoa.

2016 ALUMNI FEATURE: Cesar Garcia, Class of 2013

2016 has been a busy year for Cesar. While entering his senior year at the UW, he served as a Congressional Intern for Senator Maria Cantwell, was appointed as a Gorton Global Leader by the National Bureau of Asian Research, and was a Legislative City Council Intern with the City of Seattle. Upon graduating with a B.A. in Geography from the University of Washington, Cesar began working full-time at the King County Department of Public Defense.
